John Saigh, one of my marketing people, received a call regarding the North Shore Avenue Station - Pond Parcel requesting information about the remedy we conducted. As they indicated to John, they intend to build a 5 story building on the site.

At least 2 questions come to mind,

- 1) Do you have any objection to us giving drawings showing the potential location of the former holder foundation and any remediation photos we have?
- 2) Do you want to say anything to them about building on the site?

I'll check to see if we have an "as found" drawing for the foundations and we'll have a CD of remediation photo's

Steve- I'm sorry to bother you again, but I have a follow up question. The general contractor, Fred Teitelbaum Construction Co., is going to build a 5-story Senior Suites apartment building on that site. They're wondering how much of the old foundation will have to be removed. Edgar Gettleman, Vice President, (773-267-7676) has politely requested us to share our old drawings (if we still have them). Even though I consider Teitelbaum a good trade ally, I realize the request may very well be "asking too much." What's your recommendation? Should I tell him they'll just have to drill test holes? Please advise.

Thanks,

John

Steve- Question from a general contractor: When we sold the land at Rogers Park where the inflatable tank used to stand, did we remove the foundation as part of the environmental clean up? Please advise.

Thanks,

John
